

Dear All,

Greetings from APSCHE

On behalf of APSCHE, I am pleased to circulate a call for project proposals under Strengthening, Upscaling & Nurturing Innovations for Livelihood (SUNIL) Programme.

The programme aims to support need-based & action research projects for delivery of locally appropriate pilot-tested technologies and social enterprise creation of field-tested S&T models to strengthen the livelihood efficiency of Economically Weaker Section (EWS) of society {such as small and marginal farmers, landless laborer, workers in non-farm sector, traditional artisans (e.g. blacksmiths, mason, weavers, carpenters etc.) and skilled & semi-skilled rural/urban population working in unorganized sector (including construction, workers transgender and prisoners)}. It also encourages improving their S&T knowledge, skill enhancement, capacity building and socio-economic conditions.
